Sleeves (make 2)-

Row 1: 10 Fsc, turn. (10 Sc)

Rows 2-27(28, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34): Ch 1, 1 Sc (BLO) in each St across, turn.

Do not turn after your last row. We will now be working Row 1 of the main body of the panel into the ends of the ribbing rows.

Row 1: Work 2 Sc into the end of each row across, turn. 54(56, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68 Sc) (Note- your sleeve is going to look wavy and crazy for the first several rows! Don't worry, it's supposed to!)

Row 2: Ch 3 (counts as 1 Dc here and throughout), 1 Dc in next, YO, insert hook from front to back around the post of the most recent Dc, YO, pull up loop repeat from  to  2 more times (7 loops on hook), YO, pull through first 6 loops, YO pull through final 2 loops, Sk next St, repeat from * to * across row, 1 Dc in final St. (26(27, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33) beads)

Row 3: Ch 3, 1 Dc in each St across, turn. (54(56, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68) Dc)

Rows 4-21(21, 21, 21, 21, 19, 19, 19, 19): Repeat Rows 2 & 3.

Tie off, leave a long tail for sewing last row to front/back panels. Note- This is an oversized drop-sleeve style pullover. The wider the front/back panels are, the shorter the sleeve needs to be because they join further down your bicep. That's why the smaller sizes have more rows than the larger. You can easily adjust your sleeve length by adding or taking away rows in multiples of 2.

Join Panels-

Place your front and back panels together RS facing.

Using your preferred seaming method attach the front panel to the back panel at the shoulders (I used my hook and slip stitched across). Be sure your panels are aligned and that you aren't bunching or skipping stitches.

Next, using the same joining process as above, we will be attaching the sleeves to the pullover. Make sure the center of the sleeve is aligned with the shoulder seam. Be sure to check that your sleeves are even on both the front and back panel as you go. It is helpful to use SM's here to keep your sleeve in place as you join.

Finally, fold your pullover so that the back and front panels are on top of each other, RS facing. Seam from the cuffs to the underarm and down the side of the cardigan.

Neckline Trim-

With your pullover RS out, join yarn with a Sl St at any St on the neckline (I like to join just before a shoulder seam).

Round 1: Ch 1, Sc evenly around the opening of the neckline, Sl St to the first St to join. Exact St count is not crucial here, just try to keep your stitches even.

Round 2 & 3: Ch 1, 1 Sc in each St around, Sl St to first Sc to join. Tie off.

Weave in all ends.
